

DEVELOPING LEADERS FROM WITHIN

Help People Reach Their Full Potential

What is Developing Leaders From Within?

Developing Leaders From Within is a process that helps companies assess their current level of talent and helps managers transition through various levels of leadership to fill the leadership pipeline.

What are the Benefits?

Developing Leaders From Within helps an organization identify, assess, and develop the necessary competencies for leadership within their existing management team. Additional benefits include:

- Evaluating the current situation with six essential questions
- Assessing competencies essential to leadership
- Identifying the gaps within existing management staff
- Establishing developmental initiatives and objectives
- Creating an effective development plan

What can be gained from the process?

Developing Leaders From Within is designed to help individuals identify their “gifts” and “limits” and assess their leadership capabilities and competencies. It then focuses on creating their developmental needs that link back to their role as it relates to the strategic intent of the business. Program highlights include:

Six Passages of Leadership
Emotional Intelligence
Tools and Ingredients
Resources

Navigating effective leadership
Critical Thinking Skills
Leadership Road Map
